

SOCIAL LEADERS AND DIPLOMATS MINGLE AT PALM BEACH, SUNNY WINTER RESORT

Mrs. Herman Olrichs (right), who is probably one of the best-known matrons in "Who's Who in Society," and Madame De Riano, wife of the Spanish ambassador to the United States, sitting on the sands in sunny Palm Beach, Fla.

PAT MISUNDERSTOOD

Pat was leaning against the wall in a railway station smoking his pipe, while an engine was getting up steam ready to leave the station. Above Pat's head was a notice with the words, "No Smoking Allowed." In a short time the guard walked up and exclaimed:

"Look here, my man, do you not see the notice up there?"

"Well," said Pat, "an' shure I'm not smoking aloud it's that blessed engine over there that's kicking up all the row."

The fellow with a weak head shouldn't butt in.
